Debunking grades

Q1: In Italy the minimum grade to pass an exam is 20

FALSE! Grading system

- Assessments are graded on a scale from 18 (min.) to 30 (max.) points.
- Language courses and laboratories are usually graded only with “Pass” (no grade awarded).
- If your performance is outstanding you can receive a 30 cum laude
- Failed exams do not appear on your final transcript

Debunking exams

Q2: In Italy you can reject a mark

TRUE!

- If you are not satisfied by your final mark you can decide to reject the mark

Q3: In Italy you can take exams only once How many times can you take an exam?

- Potentially you can retake it as many times as you want but as exchange student this is limited by the period of your mobility.
- During the exam session professors fix at least two/three different dates for the final exam: you can choose in which date you want to take it and organize your study time accordingly
- The same exam can be retaken within the same exam session (but always check with the professor!)

FALSE!

Debunking exams Q4 : In Italy you have only to attend classes in order to take the exam at the end of the course

FALSE!

- Since you can retake exams many times it is crucial that you enroll for exams
- At the end of the classes period it will open up a window to enroll for exams. It is important you remember to do it even if the professor has asked you to hand in a paper.
- If you do not enroll for exams the grades cannot be registered on your transcript of records

Italian degrees and courses: navigating Esse3 infos Undergraduate/Bachelor Degree: 3 years (Corso di laurea) Graduate/Master Degree: 2 years (Corso di laurea Magistrale) Integrated Master Degree: 5 years (Corso di laurea Magistrale a ciclo unico) Pay attention to the course level when you search for it on Esse3: Bachelor's level students cannot attend Master's level courses (there are some exceptions you can check with your Mobility Office referent if this is the case) If you are taking courses in a Integrated Master degree please pay attention to the year in which the course is offered: late years (4th and 5th) courses have to be considered as Master's level if in your University system this is the case
